

Aqua America Earns "Green Power" Award

BRYN MAWR, Pa., Nov 07, 2005 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Citizens for Pennsylvania's Future (PennFuture) recognized Aqua America, Inc. (NYSE:WTR) among a select group of organizations and individuals for using energy-saving technologies of the future. PennFuture, one of the state's leading environmental organizations, recently announced the honor at its Sixth Annual Green Power Awards luncheon in Philadelphia.

PennFuture recognized Aqua America for purchasing wind-generated electricity to power 100 percent of the company's energy needs for its headquarters in Bryn Mawr and two administrative buildings in Chester County for one year. The company purchases the power from PECO WIND, PECO's environment-friendly wind power option.

Aqua America Chairman and CEO Nicholas DeBenedictis said, "This award reflects the commitment we've made to pursue sound environmental investments that benefit both our customers and our business. Wind power helps contribute to cleaner air, and we believe that clean air and clean water go hand in hand."

Aqua America, Inc. is the largest U.S.-based publicly traded water company in the country, serving more than 2.5 million residents in 13 states. Its largest subsidiary is Aqua Pennsylvania, Inc., which provides water and wastewater services to approximately 1.3 million residents throughout the state.
